Crawford County Voters To Mark Four Separate Ballots In Vote

Next Monday, April 3, is the date for the Biennial Spring Election, which will be held at the same time as the election for the township and city officials are named. State wide there will be three ballots to vote and locally in Crawford County there will be another and also in the City of Grayling.

Included in this lineup of ballots will be the regular partisan ballot, the referendum ballot and the non-partisan ballot for the state-wide lineup, and, locally, there will be the city and township ballots.

The big ballot, upon which we vote for various partisan offices, lists the candidates of six political parties — only two of which will gain much attention in this county. The other four are the Socialist Workers, the Communist, the Socialist Labor and the Independent American parties.

Candidates to be voted for include two members of the Board of Education, the State Highway Commissioner, two members of the Board of Governors of Wayne State University.

Selecting the two seats on the U. S. Board of Regents are Theodore Sack and Allan Sorenson, as Democrats and Paul G. Goebl and James Zeder as Republicans.

Sachs is 32 years of age, is a graduate of Wayne State and of the U. S. Law School. He is now a practicing attorney in Detroit. Sorenson is a chemical engineer at Dow in Midland. He is a native of Manitoba and a graduate of the U. of M.

Paul Goebl is a former All-American from Ann Arbor, was captain in his Senior year. A native of Grand Rapids, he has served as mayor of Grand Rapids three terms. He is a successful business and civic leader.

Zeder is a former vice president and director of Chrysler Corp. He graduated from the U. of M. in 1922, the same year as Goebl. He is currently chairman of the board of governors of the U. of M. Phoenix Atomic Research project. He is also vice-president of Michigan State University — Oakland branch.

Lynn M. Bartlett, currently Superintendent of Public Instruction, is the Dem's candidate to succeed himself. He has held this post since 1937.

Hugh Holloway, the Republican nominee for this job, is no stranger in this area. He was in 1947 and '48, principal at the State Area school and gained a lot of friends during his stay in the area. Since he has made an outstanding name in the educational field, the seat on the State Board of Education, as a Dem, is Frank Hartman of Flint. He is currently superintendent of the Camman School District of Genesee County and was formerly a principal and teacher at Hartland, Ann Arbor and Hillman.

He is opposed by Charles A. Rogers, Republican of Dearborn. A graduate of the U. of M. Law School in 1938, he has been attorney for many large firms and is currently serving as the director of the M.S.U. Labor and Industrial Relations Center. As such, he has arbitrated numerous company union disputes.

Both the Democratic candidates for the Board of Trustees of MSU are incumbents, Connor Smith of Pinconning, formerly of Standish, is chairman of the board and C. Allen Harlan has been a member of this board since being appointed by Governor Williams in 1957.

They are opposed by John S. Pingel of Detroit, a former All-American at MSU and currently a faculty member at the University of Michigan, and Fred England, Jr., of Lansing, Chevrolet automobile dealer.

Pingel is still considered one of the all-time great backs at East Lansing and, after serving five years in the army in World War II, carved out an important role in the advertising field.

England, also a football player when State was M.A.C., is a vet of the first war and has been known lately as the "chevy dealers" in the state for years.

Charles Bedwell has the toughest fight of all Republican candidates in taking on John C. Mackie for the highway tax job. Mackie has carved out an important role in the advertising field.

Mackie stepped into office four years ago with a majority of about 63,000. Within a few weeks he announced a five-year and a ten-year road building program that could only have come from years of study and preparation by Charles Ziegler.

Because of this road building program, Mackie has claimed to be the genius of the century — and, like it or not, it will get him a lot of votes.

Dewitt T. Burton is currently a member of the Board of Governors of Wayne State while his Dem running mate, Ralph Richman, is new at this game. Dr. Burton, an M. D., is a graduate of Fisk University and Meharry Medical College. He is a member of the United Negro College Fund and most of the well known medical associations.

Richman is a native of Holland, Michigan, in business and has served, for several years, as president of the board of directors of Valparaiso University of Valparaiso, Indiana. They are opposed by Thomas Adams of Bloomfield Hills and Charles E. Brake of Detroit. Both of these men are graduates of Wayne State University.

Adams is 44 years of age and is now president of Campbell-Twinn advertising agency. He was a football and track star at Wayne and served in World War II as a Naval pilot in the Pacific.

Dr. Charles Brake is superintendent of the Wayne County Schools and a past president of the Michigan Rural Teachers' Association and the Michigan Educational Association.

Traditionally this is a light vote-getting election — just why we'll never know. The offices are just as important as those selected in the fall election.

On the November ballot, two Justices of the Supreme Court are to be elected. The incumbents are Harry F. Kelly and John R. DeHammers. Both men were nominated at the Republican State Convention to run to succeed the late Justice. Nominated at the Democratic State Convention to seek the two seats on the high court were James H. McLaughlin and Emerick C. Enderby.

In the City of Grayling, one incumbent is seeking re-election to one of the two City Council posts up for grabs. He is Leonard H. Kubbs. The Grayling Republican Party is not seeking re-election. Three other candidates have filed to run. They are: Dr. Ralph E. Hoffman, William LaGrow and Larry McManama. Seeking re-election on the same ballot is present Justice of the Peace Olin Williamson.

The only township ballot which will offer two parties to the voter is Beaver Creek on which is offered the Republican Party and the Citizens Party. Andie Neilson, the only candidate listed on the Citizens Party ticket, is seeking re-election as Township Treasurer. The Republican Party offers the following candidates: Supervisor, Ivan Billman, incumbent; Clerk, Frank DeWitt, incumbent; Treasurer, Margaret Sampson, incumbent; Board of Review, Earl E. Wood, Board of Review, Everett Poling; Constable, Forrest Reichelderfer and Richard Johnston. It is understood that several sticker and write-in candidates are active in the Beaver Creek election.

In South Branch Township, the Union Party offers the following candidates: Supervisor, Howard Mead, incumbent; Clerk, Vera Webster, Treasurer, Bertha LeLine; Trustee, George D. Miller; Board of Review, J. Porter Royce. The Township of Grayling's Peoples Party offers the following candidates: Supervisor, Robert Fowler; Clerk, Robert M. Hayes, incumbent; Treasurer, Bureka Z. Stephan, incumbent; Trustee, Earl Mathewson, incumbent; Justice of the Peace, Eric Post and Claude Lytle; Board of Review, Clare Madsen; Constable, Lacey Stephan and Dale Kenyon; Highway Commissioner, Norman Stagnan.

The Citizens Ticket at Frederic has the following candidates printed on the ballot: Supervisor, Ray Murphy, incumbent; Clerk, Eugene Kaiser, incumbent; Treasurer, Ken Burkhardt, incumbent; Trustee, Roy Papenfuss, incumbent; Board of Review, Clyde Smith; Constable, Bert Plagens.

Lovells Township's Citizens Party has the following candidates printed on the ballot: Supervisor, William T. Miller, incumbent; Clerk, Mary Venus, Treasurer, Margie Harwood; Trustee, William Koornke; Board of Review, H. T. Johnson; Constable, Ken B. Mundt. It is understood that present Township Clerk Louise Heafka will run as a sticker candidate in an attempt to hold her position.

The Minimum Wage Bill . . .

The Administration has given priority to a bill which would increase the federal minimum wage from the present $1 to $1.25 an hour over a period of time and extend the wage-hour law to millions of workers, largely engaged in retail trade, who have always been exempt. A similar bill, differing from the current one in some details but not in principle or general objective, was introduced in Congress last year but failed enactment.

The proposal undoubtedly has widespread appeal, on theory that anything which would increase spending power would benefit the country. But there is a strong and compelling case against it — and a strong and compelling case for it in the March issue of The Reader's Digest.

Senator Goldwater is not against good wages — he's for them. But he is solidly opposed to the federal minimum wage idea for two reasons. First, he points out that it increases money in circulation without a corresponding increase in production, and the results are higher prices, belt-tightening, unemployment. Second, it gives the federal bureaucracy the power to dictate to the states, and the result of that is a violation of the 10th amendment to the Bill of Rights — "which guarantees preservation of states' rights, the keystone of our republic."

The Senator goes into some detail as to what would have happened had last year's similar bill passed Congress. First of all, wage increases would have been required for 3.8 million workers, at a cost of more than $2 billion a year. Second, extended coverage to an additional 7.8 million workers would have cost nearly $2 billion a year in addition. Third, imposing the 40-hour work week on the newly covered workers would have used still another big jump in wage costs.

No less an authority than former Secretary of Labor Archibald Hays said: "The massive increase in wage costs which would be required simply could not be met by any firms, and enactment of the bill would result in extensive curtailment of employment." Senator Goldwater goes into this phase of the problem, and cites specific examples. To take one, testimony before the Senate Labor Committee indicated that, if the bill were passed, some 1,750 people employed by the cleaning industry in the single city of Louisville, Kentucky, would lose their jobs. To take another, Senator Goldwater tells of a Michigan retail operation that did $2 million in business in a late year, and made a profit of about $34,000. But had the minimum wage law been in effect, there would have been a loss of $100,000. In the Senator's words, "The company would have had to either fire some of its employees, or go out of business entirely, depriving all of its 135 employees of jobs."

He provides a number of other such examples, and stresses the fact that, in retail business, there are job opportunities for part-time housewives, students and others who simply are not worth the higher wage, and would be dismissed as a consequence. Then, he deals at some length with the constitutional question. In his view, "the regulation of wages in peacetime by the federal government is in direct conflict with our constitutional principles." The 10th Amendment says: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively or to the people."

Finally, Senator Goldwater is convinced that state and local government can do a far fairer and more effective job of handling such problems as wage and hour laws than the federal government. They are in a position to make legislation really fit varying local needs and conditions. He writes in conclusion: "The responsibility lies with each state, and not with the federal government, to provide minimum-wage levels that are consistent with health and decent living standards."

Grayling's new authorized Gamble Store Agency located in the old postoffice building will be opened Friday, April 1st. E. R. Burns, owner and manager, has been busy engaged for some time getting the store set up for the opening.

One of the outstanding programs for the club year of the Woman's Club was the Mother and Daughter banquet given on Monday evening at Shoppington Inn. Two long tables seated some eighty guests were graced by silver candelabra holding red and white candles. Low bouquets of forget-me-nots graced the ends of the tables. Mrs. Roy Milnes and Mrs. C. G. Clippert had charge of the program and Miss Eleanor Tuomath of the banquet.

Basketball fans in these parts are in for a treat next Wednesday, April 6th, at the Grayling school gym when the colorful Harlem Globetrotters make their appearance here. About a year ago this team met with the Grayling Merchants and they awed the spectators by their wonderful basketball ability, so they are returning at popular request.

Mr. E. R. Barnes of Levering, owner of the new Gamble store that was opened Friday, arrived in Grayling last week and is now one of Grayling's citizens. He is looking for a house for his family. Last Thursday night the Grayling Merchants regained the Northern Michigan Amateur Championship by turning back the strong Gaylord team 45-21. The Merchants defeated Petoskey for their first game, which was entirely nobody's game until the final whistle. In the finals, things were different. Playing Gaylord is always a battle, and what a game that was. Though Grayling opened the scoring, Gaylord led at the final Tuesday morning. The little girl wept 17 pounds and 7 ounces and Sally is real busy telling her little friends about her new sister.

Christian Scientists Hold Easter Service in New Quarters

Christian Science Society of West Branch, a branch of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., has been conducting services in West Branch consistently since the summer of 1948. The first meetings were held in private homes. For a few months in 1950 the group met in the Girl Scout building on North 4th St. In the spring of 1951 they removed to the West Branch Community Building where they have met regularly for services the past ten years.

It was announced this week that beginning on Easter Sunday, April 2nd, that services will be conducted in their new quarters at 112 South 7th Street in West Branch. Regular services will be held each Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Sunday School convenes at the same hour and welcomes children and young people from the age of three to twenty years. Children will be cared for in the infants' room. There will be a Testimony Meeting held the third Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m. These meetings will include readings from the Bible, and from the Christian Science textbooks, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, as well as testimonies of actual healing experiences. A Reading Room will also be established by the Society at their new location, where visitors may enjoy quiet study, or well as the opportunity to borrow or purchase books and literature from the Society's extensive library. Written requests for the loan of books will always be welcomed by the librarian of the Society and promptly handled.

ARE ENGINE TUNE-UPS NECESSARY?

Did you ever use an ordinary lead pencil way beyond the point at which it should be sharpened? Then you know it writes poorly, less legibly, and eventually ceases to write at all.

Roughly speaking, much the same thing happens to a car engine that has worn itself out of adjustment. Like the pencil, it needs "resharpening". Think of this: in only one mile a spark plug fires a thousand times and each pair of valves opens and closes with each firing. The distributor points open and close 8,000 times and the fuel pump pumps a thousand times a minute. An average dozen carburetor parts are activated with each gas pedal movement. And all of these movements cause wear.

Five thousand miles after a tune-up your engine has lost considerable power and economy, though you may not notice it since you are getting used to the decline gradually. But there is no reason why a 30,000 mile engine should not function with new efficiency providing these wear tolerances are properly adjusted.

At Welsh Motor Sales our tune-up mechanics first clean and adjust the plugs and points. They rebalance the carburetor's intake of air and fuel and re-tune the ignition firing to compensate for lost compression. They make these adjustments, and many others, to prevent abnormal wear that results from neglected normal wear. Without doubt, the money spent on regular engine tune-ups comes back to you in longer engine life, greater economy and with a bonus of new-car performance.
